National Disaster Awareness Week

The National Disaster Management Office is mandated by the Natural Disaster Management Act 1998 to conduct the National Disaster Awareness Week (NDAW) annually.

The launch also coincides with the UNISDR International Day for Disaster Risk Reduction on October 13, where the focus for 2017 is to reduce the number of affected people by disaster by 2030.

The 2017 National Disaster Awareness Week (NDAW) will focus on increasing understanding and preparation for tsunamis. Tsunami preparedness activities for 2017 will culminate in a National Tsunami Drill.

The key objectives of the National Disaster Tsunami Drill are:

- ◆ To build and test functional systems for warnings, evacuation, and response
- ◆ To enhance and expand working relationships between key stakeholders
- ◆ To increase Fiji's preparedness for tsunami events nationwide.

Disaster awareness week activities are being spearheaded by the Divisional Commissioners in the 4 divisions beginning on the 13th of October, 2017.
